Retail Merchants Are Closing Accounts That Are Not Paid Promptly

Reforms are usually brought about by slow degrees. Determined and concerted action usually speeds up the process.

In the matter of credit the credit men of two hundred and three leading local firms are accomplishing great things. The whole community will eventually be the gainer from this improved and more businesslike method of dealing with credit matters.

Slow-payers and part-payers need enlightenment, however, if the credit men's efforts are to bear most fruit in the quickest time. Through the series of advertisements of which this is one much progress is being made. Sometimes a direct application of the new rule is necessary to swing the debtor into line. For instance;

A wealthy citizen owed a certain store $1,000.00. Nothing had been paid on account for at least six months. A threat to sue brought the offender in to see the credit man. Much parleying resulted in a promise to pay $300.00 in a few days, and the balance in payments spread over the ensuing five months. These arrangements concluded, the customer expressed a desire to buy some goods.

"Nothing doing," said the credit man (only his language was a little more choice).

"Why?" demanded the debtor.

"Simply because you are not entitled to credit. If you haven't money enough to clear off your old account, we certainly don't want to make matters worse by selling you more goods on credit," explained the credit man.

"But I am wealthy: I own farm property, city real estate," and so on and so on. "You are amply secured for anything I might buy," urged the

"All very true as to your financial worth, sir, BUT, UNLESS YOU PAY YOUR BILLS PROMPTLY all your property isn't worth two straws to us. What we want is your CASH every thirty days for what you buy from us. If you don't pay that way, you might own a flock of gold mines, and we wouldn't want your account on our books."

That particular debtor is now paying spot cash for what he must buy, while he is clearing off his old indebtedness.

Don't wait until the credit man brings YOU up with a sharp jerk. Pay up NOW, and stay paid up. You will be glad of it once you get the habit of paying promptly.

We are now approaching the peace inference, the premier continued he price of victory is not vengeance or retribution. It is prevention.

First of all what about those people hom we have received without question for years to our shores, to whome give equal rights with our own sons and daughters, and who abused that capitality to betray the land, to piologainst security, to spy upon it and o gain such information as enabled he Prussian war lords to inflict not unishment but damage and injury pon the land that had received them is guests. they had inflicted.

The second question was the question of indemnities, the premier added in every court of justice throughout the world the party which lost has had to bear the cost of the litigation. When Germany defeated France she established the principle, and there was modoubt that the principle was the right one. Germany must pay the cost of the war up to the limit of her capacity.

Capacity Limit.

Capacity Limit.

"But I must use one word of warning," said Lloyd George, "We have to consider the question of Germany's capacity. Whatever happens, Germany is not to be allowed to pay the indemnity by dimping cheap goods upon us. That is the only limit in principle we are laying down. She must not be allowed to pay for her wanton damage and devastation by dumping cheap goods and weeking our industries. "There is a third and last point is no use to be made responsible for the war, somebody has been responsible for a war that has taken the lives of millions of the best young men of Europe" is not anyone to be made responsible for that? If not, all I can say is that if that is the case there is one justice for the poor wretched eriminal and another for kings and emperors."

Mr. Lloyd George declared that there

eriminal and another for kings and emperors."

Mr. Lloyd George declared that there were two offenses against the law of nations that had been committed.

"One," he said, "Is the crime against humanity in the deliberate piotting of the great war. The other is the outrage upon international law. It is a crime, a brutal crime, to devastate the lands of another. Wheever did that ought to be responsible for it.

U-Boats' Crimes.

"The submarine warfare did not mean only the sinking of ships, but it was a crime against humanity in that it sank thousands of harmless merchantmen. In the whole history of warfare between rations that had never been sanctioned.

"It is rank piracy and the pirates must receive the punishment," If mean to see that the men who did not treat our prisoners with humanity are to be made responsible. I want this country to go to court with a clean conscience and she will do so. There is not a stain on her record. We will not be afraid to appear before any tribunal." Now these are the things which we rribunal.

"Now these are the things which we have to investigate.

"We mean that the investigation shall be an impartial one a perfectly fair one. We also mean that it shall be a stern one, and that it shall go on to the final rockoning.

BERNE, Switzerland, Dec. 2. (By the Associated Press.)—Food was so expensive in Vienna that a siender, unpalatable and unsatisfactory meal cost from $4 up. Clothes were so scarce that a mediocre suit sold at $500, while a pair of shoes cost from $60 to $90. The commonest necessaries of life were so difficult to obtain that one had to stand in line for hours for a chance to purchase a tiny portion at an exorbitant price.

Such was the condition of affairs in Vienna just before the armistice was concluded, as related to the correspondent by the last American to leave Austria. He is a member of the diplomatic service who was assigned to remain at the Austrian capital when war was declared and has just come to Switzerland.

No story yet told of conditions in Vienna can even remotely approximate the actual facts as described by this syewitness, whose account was given, perhaps unconsciously, a dramatic climax by a declaration that despite the indescribable sufferings and hardships. Vienna still has horse racing, attended by greater crowds than in peace times. These crowds walk eight miles to the rack track and bet thousands of crowns instead of hundreds, as formerly, in their feverish desire to forget the mineray caused by the war.

Austria quit, declares the diplomat, hecause it was a physical impossibility to continue further. Not only was Austria without food, but without the commonest necessaries. It faced winter in almost literal nakedness, so scarce had to continue further. Not only was Austria without food, but without the commonest necessaries. It faced winter in almost literal nakedness, so scarce had cothing become. Before he left Vienna, the correspondent's informant disposed of nearly every article of clothing he possessed. The demand for clothing may be judged from the fact that he realized from $2 to $4 each for neokties four years old and which originally cost $1 apiece, $100 for a 10-year-old suit costing $25; $260 for a 10-year-old suit costing $25; $260 for a 10-year-old suit costing $25; $260 for a 10-year-old suit costing $100 each for three suits bought in Vienna three years before and which were shiny, ragged and worn out Old socks, costing $1,25 and which had been darned, sold for $5 a pair.
